

than recently; perhaps more inclined to use some astringent in cases of diarrhoea now than I did in my early practice.

Q. You wouldn't be likely, usually, to make use of that? A. No, sir, I don't quite say that; I do occasionally now, but not as much as formerly.

Q. The testimony here is that that condition induced this miscarriage. Now, in your judgment did it have anything to do with it?

A. I have already stated and I state again that I have known cases of miscarriage to come on in connection with diarrhoea, so that I regarded the diarrhoea as an exciting cause. I don't think a small dose of oil and rhubarb would excite a diarrhoea sufficiently to produce miscarriage.

Q. What is a small dose? A. A tea-spoonful of each.

Q. Now, in a space of could her condition become apparent when two minutes before it was not apparent at all to Dr. Warlow?

A. I don't know about the length of time. You understand, if I may be allowed to explain, whenever
