Crows.

Have made many questions of Lewis Ketcham, Clara Hopkins & Geo. H. Hunt, Indian agent

Both Clara & Lewy say that all the Crows were called K'tolaqpi (in Sapir Tolowk) and that it means - great Hips. Lewy thinks that many years ago Men going down a salt water they made a great canoe and that they were dubbed by this name. Said it belonged to the great-chief. Neither knew any real reason.

Joe Lewis Crows was history - gt. gr. son of the chief " " had a sister, dead years ago, about Lewys own age, (82 ± 1917). Says Joe Lewis was about two years older - Though not so very much older than his wife Clara Ketcham who is 77 at present (though she says she is 85) Lewy doesn't know the factors of Joe Lewis; must have been dead before Lewy could remember. (But - knew aunt Francis Crows, living in 1861?)

Tribe Crows had no settled habitation. In old times they were always moving somewhere, perhaps a salt water one year & two, then back again. At fishing time they were mostly living & be at Alderton.

Clara declares that the old chief was called Joseph Lewis? that he had no son Joe Lewis, father of her first husband Joe Lewis Crows, & G. daughter now dead.

Grandsons of Joe Lewis Crows now living are Joe Lewis, Joe K'tolaqpi' & David Lewis (now in jail) (Her information is doubtful: the Ships whose generations) "K'tolaqpi' likes dats' legler Alderton likes"

Hunt says that he has heard a tradition that Crows were the water Indians. "Alderton was originally a part of Crows."

Clara Hopkins (March 8 1913) says Crows real half Mixed his father was Nisqually, on the Lower Nis. Says Indian name was K'tolaqpi' - Says he was very old when he died & some time before he got Mad at Matthews for Alderton & Crows & died there.

Crows = Steilacoom Budahmoos, & Puluuus, so Clara says, "big tribe of Bungs at Lyon" Also Joe Quantlick. His descendants called K'tolaqpi'oozeeuk, K'tolalakois, (Snipes), Shs says Humtulsis, Ahbulsis (Humptulips of Boston Mss?) are - Entirely distinct, by oth.
