

By Dr. Cushing:

2. What was the temperature inside when you have seen frost on the windows?

A. It might be considerably higher. The outer window is a single one, not double, and a little moisture from the inside would congeal on the window, and have some frost some times.

By Mr. Baker:

2. Have you ever seen or felt the temperature in those wedge rooms in the night nearer than 20 degrees to freezing point?

A. I should think not, but it is a matter of both judgment and recollection.

By Mr. Butler:

2. Have you seen them at a temperature which you thought might be very uncomfortable to a nude person? A. That would depend very much upon the other conditions, state of the health and the other conditions as to activity. If a person is in a very high state of frenzy and exercises as freely as they some times do, then the temperature would not need to be as high as if they were very quiet. But if a person lie down on the floor
