

meddle with him much, nor did Sanson when he would stop and talk with us. about it we would say, "come along", and put our hands behind his shoulders or back, or take hold of his coat, ~~and~~ urging him along a little, and he would go. And so we got him in.

Q. Ever know de-Neal to go after a patient? A. never.

Q. What have you got to say about this Buckeye? A. I have heard the evidence here this evening. I will say to you my attention was called to the carcass of pork not good. I had ordered the hog Buckeye killed. I went down and found ~~it~~ ~~about~~ to be the carcass of Buckeye, and condemned it.

By Mr. Falk:

Q. Is it any body's duty, under the law, to go after patients who have run away? A. I don't think the law makes it the duty of any particular officer, excepting that it makes it the duty of every person in that service to obey the superintendent. When the patients are out at work the law makes it my duty to look after them. This man was not out
