Ques. Do you know what his reputation for truth and veracity was. Ans. He came there a stranger to me, I did not; cannot tell how long he was there.

Ques. If he told you he knew Mr. Sampson to get provoked with Sweeney and to take him by the coat collar and drag him round the room and then kick him out into the coal shed, would you believe it.

Ans. I should question him pretty snug. I should not want to say that I believed Mr. Stackpole to be an untruthful man; I should be rather surprised if he came and told me that.

Testimony of Charles Crasel

By Mr. Baker.

Ques. You were the gentleman who testified with reference to Mr. Palmer; who took Palmer out of the lodge the night you spoke of. Ans. I testified at the time that it was John Perkins, but he seems to think it was not; I thought it was Perkins and George Christy.

Ques. How many nights was he in the lodge after that.

Ans. I do not know, I was there on a visit that night, and was in the attendants' room and something was
