

Indians have a Malapropian faculty for getting things backwards. One called a yellow hammer an alabama bird. Another told about a bird called a post-poke for a stake drive.

K's same houses = yankee houses (Clerk)

Of a busy body: "Goin' round jus' like auger handle Stickin' one jus' like one finger."

"Kickin' round like de boot"

One told of a porpoise looking "jus like blue grain' stone"
