

Q. It has been testified here that you gave directions, when you came out, to those attendants who were there, that it was a case of excessive flowing, and that if she should be bandaged she would be all right.

A. No, sir, I have no recollection of that statement.

Q. Might not it have been so?

A. I don't think I did, for the young girl had been there but a short time. It was before she was married, and I made no conversation with her in regard to the matter.

Q. When you came out you were satisfied that it was such a case as you have stated, of excessive flowing?

A. That I suspected it; that is all I thought it was, but it proved to be otherwise.

Q. When you saw Miss. Wam die you then ~~told~~ her to apply bandages?

A. After we had removed the fetter in order to take good care of the woman; no bandage or directions before that I remember of.

Q. When you made that first examination
