

that he is remarkable, has a remarkably strong body and is continually about observing and attending to his affairs; that he is a hard working man, constantly giving his whole notice to his business, and it is my belief today that there can be no very serious <sup>case of</sup> abuse without coming to his knowledge, and it is based on these facts: First, he is about, all over the building once a day and is liable to appear in any part of it at any time in the day. This, when you come to reason on that point, will show that it is difficult to perpetrate any very serious evils without his knowledge.
 Another thing is that if any body is very badly hurt they will bear the marks of it; and I have always noticed that he is very persistent in inquiring for the cause of any marks of injury on the bodies of his patients. I have observed that very frequently. It is ~~not~~ not an uncommon thing to see a person whom the physicians call epileptic with a bruise.
 I once saw ~~one~~ a man fall against
