

grandfather. She is very weak a genealogy. She married first Joseph Orons, son she says, but no doubt a grandson of old chief Orons. <sup>(Joe Lewis Orons, the says later)</sup> Probably he was the one nicknamed Joe Toluck, but as the nickname <sup>was - all right "big mops"</sup> has probably indicated I never asked! "My first husband, if he live, the my soul body!" - meaning that he was an able man.
 "He make special law" "If he's live I'm sorry - when he died again ~~that~~ discourage me" (probably means she was discouraged when her second died) (her second husband <sup>sometimes</sup> <sup>said</sup> was Sol, son of Mr. Gov.
 Heptimus son Sol, & sometimes was Mitchell Heptimus son of <sup>said</sup> Heptimus "He got bearing but slow". Old Orons he said in his later years, his feet aise as too old, got weak & left the tribe & went to Orono "and camp down there along", was buried in Orono. She says his father was Frenchman From an account I gathered that her husband was Lewis Orons (Lewis<sup>2</sup>, Chief Joseph) "brought up in New York", <sup>known</sup> ~~was~~ <sup>was</sup> died in Boston about 35 years ago, buried there.
 What Clara says must be taken with extreme caution.
